

Summer 2018

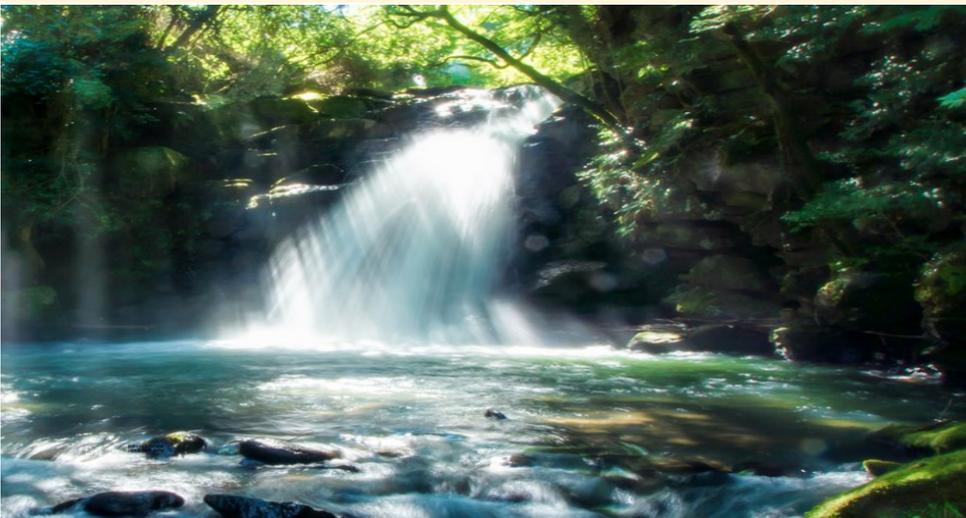

First Presbyterian Church of Aberdeen

FROM THE PASTOR

Dear community and friends of First Presbyterian Church,

I recently walked through the two passages that describe the characteristics of an elder in the New Testament with the nominating committee here at First Presbyterian – 1 Timothy 3 and the passage above in Titus. As I've noted before the list of characteristics is not a list of specific skills, nothing really about leadership qualities even other than the ability to teach. It is actually a list of fruit – it is the character that matters and less of the skills one has. In fact, most commentators note that besides "teaching" or being "able to give instruction in sound doctrine" the list is simply a list of the fruit that should be identifiable in all Spirit-filled followers of Jesus. In both lists it says elders are to have the fruit of hospitality.

This year our newsletter articles are focused on what it means to be the church for our community. And perhaps there is no more powerful or more over-looked way of being the church than simple hospitality. Hospitality comes from the same root word we get the words "hospital" and "hospice." The Webster's Dictionary in my study gives the exact same primary definition for both of those words: "a place of shelter and refuge for travelers." Now, we typically think of "hospitals" as places for the sick and "hospice" for those in the last stages of life – but of course even as these words have evolved they still identify what Jesus says he came to do, "those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. I came not to call the righteous, but sinners" (Mark 2:17). The church is to be a place of shelter and refuge. Because we have been welcomed into a relationship with God and have a place at the table in Christ we are to welcome others.

"For an overseer, as God's steward, must be above reproach. He must not be arrogant or quick-tempered, or a drunkard or violent or greedy for gain, but hospitable, a lover of good, self-controlled, upright, holy, and disciplined."

Titus 1:7-8

CON'T FROM THE PASTOR

At one of our recent elders meetings one of the elders made the observation that when someone new musters up the courage to walk into a new place, a new building, a new congregation, not really knowing what to expect or what is going to happen when they get there when the visit they must have something going on in their life that propels them to do so. Most people don't just randomly wake up and say "I'm going to go to church today for the first time." They are either facing a difficult crisis in life, in search of purpose or meaning, lonely, or have tried just about everything else the world has to offer. In other words, they are seeking shelter, refuge, healing, and hope.

And so we of course want to be a place that exhibits the fruit of hospitality. However, most of our neighbors, family, co-workers and friends are experiencing those same situations – personal crisis, loss, loneliness, despair – but haven't mustered the courage to walk into a church building or for whatever reason it would never occur to them to try. Which means our homes must become little outposts of hospitality. Our living rooms and backyards and dining room tables are the places where real people with real lives meet us. I say it often, I wish I lived it more often, but all of us average 21 meals a week and so do the people around us – why not invite someone over. The great thing about being a church family is we can practice on each other. Find someone you don't know in the congregation and ask them to dinner. I guarantee it will change the way you interact with that person every Sunday you see them from that point forward. Knowing that you are known and cared for is one of life's greatest gifts. Paul says it is so important that it is a requirement to be an elder in the church. But, think how counter-cultural that is – in a world that seems to just add more chaos on top of more chaos one of the defining characteristics of the church is to be a people marked by "refuge and shelter."

Grace and peace,

Doug

WINDOW PROJECT UPDATES

The window project is a little behind schedule but is still planned for this summer. The first bid package, for the entire project as presented to you, went out to bid and we received three bids that significantly exceeded our budget. We then reduced the scope of work to concentrate on the main floor, east side windows, and went out to bid again. We received six bids and we are currently working with the low bidder to see how many windows we can replace with the money available for the project.

We will give updates as the final details are completed and a contract is in place.

GREETINGS FROM STEWARDSHIP!

Brothers and sisters in Christ, as you can see from the below numbers we currently have an approximate $20,000 deficit for our operating budget this year. We feel it is our duty to keep you informed about the church's financial situation, and unfortunately this level of deficit spending half-way through the year far exceeds what we had anticipated. This year we have been blessed with significant giving for the East side window project, and we are blessed with reserve funds in various forms. Those reserves, however, are finite.

	Actual May	Budget May	Actual Year to Date	Budget Year to Date	Total Budget Year of 2018
Income	8,735	11,752	46,252	60,261	146,031
Expenses	12,300	12,320	66,840	66,840	156,092
Net	-3,566	-568	-20,589	-6,579	-10,061

Our operating budget for this year was fairly lean, and our position on the stewardship commission is one of faithfulness. We favor continuing as budgeted for the foreseeable future trusting that God's providence will continue to bless the Aberdeen First Presbyterian mission to become closer to God, each other, and the community around us.

If you are in a position to make an additional gift to the church this summer it would be greatly appreciated. If you have any specific questions please feel free to reach out to someone from the stewardship commission, or the session.

God Bless, and thank you for your continued generosity and support.
